Nine Bids on County's Largest Road Project Received at Columbus

Contract for Improvement of Coshocton-Mt. Vernon Road Likely to Be Awarded Next Week—Work to Start Soon—Lowest Figure is $43,942.10

Nine bids for the improvement of Section "D" of the Mt. Vernon-Coshocton road in New Castle-tp were received by the division of highways at Columbus, it was announced today by M. S. Gorsuch, deputy surveyor.

The highest bid received was $53,666.92, and the lowest was $43,942.10. The estimated cost of construction, as submitted by state surveyors, is $55,054.32.

A list of the bids submitted follows:

Taylor and Owens, Coshocton, $51,329.80; L. B. Wilson, Newark, Ohio, $51,661.36; H. H. Gens, Oak Harbor, Ohio, $53,471.58; Mack Gledhill & Samples, Galion, Ohio, $52,386.58; Guilford Wright Company, Akron, Ohio, $51,292.28; Jefferson Construction Company, Bloomingdale, Ohio, $52,542.32; Stein, Geisel & Stein, Niles, Ohio, $43,942.10; W. M. Gray, Columbus, Ohio, $53,666.92.

The road is to be improved by grading the roadway, putting in drainage structures, and paving with gravel. The part to be improved, about three miles in length, extends from the village of Nellie to the Coshocton-Knox-co line. When completed it will be 26 feet in width.

The contract has not yet been awarded, but wil probably be given to the lowest bidder, Stein, Geisel & Stein of Niles, sometime this week, it is believed by the local surveyor. Work must be completed by October 15, 1924, and construction will probably be started the latter part of April.

The county and state share equally in the cost of construction.

FAILURE TO OBEY SCHOOL LAW LEADS TO MAN'S ARREST

Justice D. W. Bassett remitted a fine of $25 and costs imposed upon George Philabaum, near Fresno, yesterday after Philabaum promised the justice that he would keep his children in school.

U. S. FLYING CHIEF LOST IN ALASKA

Major Martin Missing, May Have Been Drowned, Aviators Believe

DESTROYERS SENT

Companions in Round-World Flight Search for Missing Leader

WASHINGTON, April 16—Major Frederick L. Martin, leader of the army round-the-world flight, is missing and may have been drowned in Alaskan waters, according to a cablegram received here this morning by the army air service.

Major Martin was flying second in the formation last night when he dropped out of the flight according to the messages. He was believed to have landed in a bay south of the Aleutian islands.

Destroyers from Seward have been dispatched to comb the waters for trace of the missing flying leader the message said, and in addition his comrades are circling the area for sight of him or his machine.

The report on Major Martin being missing was sent by two of his fellow officers on the flight, Lieutenants Bissel and Smith.

They reported the flight chief was last seen headed west near Cape Igvak, in northwestern Alaska. The waters of Kialagiak and Portage bays, both contiguous of Cape Igvak are being searched.

CAMBRIDGE MAN IS CHARGED WITH A GIRL'S ABDUCTION

MANSFIELD, April 16.—County and city officers have been asked to look for Miss Lois Trimble, 15, who the family claim, was abducted Tuesday morning by a man named Hicks, of Cambridge.

Miss Trimble and Hicks left her country home Tuesday morning in Miss Trimble's car. The family supposed she was going to her school where she was teaching. One of her brothers says he met his sister and Hicks on the road; that his sister looked deathly pale, as if she were ill. The family believe the girl was doped. She met Hicks but a few days ago. He is said to belong to a wealthy family at Cambridge.

AMERICAN LEAGUE HAS A WEALTH OF GOOD RECRUITS

(By DAVIS J. WALSH)

NEW YORK, April 15.—Judging from the superficial evidence afforded by a few brief weeks in the training camps, the American league has been more fortunate than the National in harvesting the best of the season's crop of rising young men. Every American league club seems to have fallen heir to at least one young ball player who either will make the riffle this season or is only a year away. We cannot say the same for the Heydler circuit.

The Braves and Cubs virtually are standing pat and two promising pitchers the Reds have taken over have been up before.

Less than three new faces will be in the lineup of the Philadelphia Athletics. They are Max Bishop, former Baltimore second baseman, who has been good enough to keep Jimmy Dykes on the bench and Strand and Simmons, leading hitters of the Coast League and American Association, respectively. The Athletics have made their extensive purchases stand up.

The Red Sox also have done well in this respect. Ira Lee, the $50,000 shortstop, being judged a discovery second only to that of Columbus. Ike Boone, a great hitter, will be in the Sox outfield in the opening game and Fuhr, a pitcher, may be heard from later. The Yanks are also dallying with a $50,000 investment, Earl Combs, but the young man does not seem to be ready.

The Senators are keeping Prothero, third baseman, Fisher and Smith, outfielders, and Martin, Speece and Wingfield, pitchers and the White Sox seem to have loaded up with several real ball players in Kamm and Ostergard, outfielders, and Steengrafe and ... pitchers. The best of the young Browns are said to be Rego, catcher from the Coast league and Olin Vaught, a pitcher once with the Giants, while Cobb thinks so much of Whitehill ... that he may start him in the opening game.

The Indians are also set ... with youthful ... and ... Shaute, left hand pitcher.

In the National league ... Giants have been more ... than the ... Dean, the $50,000 pitcher ... to be ready ... are ... Bradshaw, pitchers, ... Lindstrom, infielder, and Wilson, outfielder. ... young men Johnny Jones, of Portland, is making good with the Dodgers at shortstop as is ...

Klaugman at second base.

The Pirates have strengthened their infield by the addition of Glenn Wright, star shortstop of the American Association while Dan Kremer and Emil Yde, are expected to come thru nicely. The Reds think well of Jake May and Tom Sheehan, pitchers up for another trial. The Cards have placed Belton on third base and believe they have a promised futurity in Douthitt, outfielder and Niebergal, catcher.

The best of the young Cubs are Vogel and Michael, infielders, and the Braves are keeping a watchful eye upon Leffler, first baseman and Strickler and Yeargin, pitchers.

All Teams Scheduled; Fair Weather Greets Fans in Most Cities

Baseball Season Officially Opened—Coolidge Will Toss First Ball at Washington, Judge Landis at St. Louis—Batteries Announced—Grandmother Mortality Rate is High Today

NEW YORK, April 15.—Thousands of bereaved office boys will be called to their homes to view the unfortunate remains of as many grandmothers at or about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon simultaneous with the official opening of the major league baseball season.

The mortality among these aged relatives will be particularly noticeable in New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Boston, Washington, Detroit and Chicago, but it is also a coincidence that the cities in question will play host to the inaugural games of the 1924 season. It is just the way of grandmothers and ball games in general.

Opening games have been arranged as follows:

Brooklyn at New York; Boston at Philadelphia; Chicago at St. Louis; Pittsburgh at Cincinnati.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Smiling skies and a crowd slightly in excess of 48,000 persons are expected to greet the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers at the local opening of the National League season this afternoon at the Polo grounds. It was indicated John McGraw would use Bill Ryan and Frank Snyder as his battery and that Wilbert Robinson, would rely with Reuther and Deberry.

CHICAGO, April 15.—White sox and Browns faced the prospect of bright, clear and crisp weather for the opening game at Comiskey park today. Battery selections lay between Robertson and Blankenship, with Schalk, for Chicago, and Danforth or Shocker with Severeid for St. Louis.

WASHINGTON, April 15. — For the fifteenth time since he began his major league career as a member of the Washington Nationals, Walter Johnson will officiate at the opening game of the season here today against Connie Mack's Athletics. Johnson has been the pitching ace of the Nationals for 18 seasons and he has been chosen to pry the lid off a new season all but three of those years.

President Coolidge will attend the game at American eague park and toss out the first ball.

The weather was clear and cool, with a promise of clouds later in the day. A capacity crowd is assured as all reserved seats were sold weeks ago.

BOSTON, April 15. — The Red Sox under Manager Lee Fohl, opposed the Yankees at Fenway Park today. Fair weather was on tap. Six new players were in the line up of the Red Sox. They are Wambsganns, Veach, Boone, Shanks, O'Neill and Lee. Babe Ruth is ready to establish a beginning for a record that will outpoint his former ones.

DETROIT, April 15.—Cloudy and cool weather greeted the Tigers and Indians today in the opening encounter of the season. With additional seats placed in the outfield local baseball following bids fair to shatter all attendance records, 45,000 being predicted by some. Cobb was expected to choose either Whitehill or Dauss to hurl for the Tigers and Speaker was said to favor Shaute.

CINCINNATI, April 15.—Donohue and Morrison will probably be the opposing pitchers when the Reds and Pirates open the baseball season here this afternoon. A record crowd was expected as every seat had been sold out.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 15. Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, will toss out the first ball for the opener between the Cubs and the Cardinals. Aldridge and O'Farrell for Chicago and Haines and Vick for St. Louis are probable batteries.

Fair weather was in prospect.

PHILADELPHIA, April 15. Overcast skies this morning carried a threat that the 1924 season's opening game between the Phillies and Boston Braves may have to be played later in the year. "Rain this afternoon" was the weather bureau prediction, that ... the ardor of the fans. In event the well known Jupe ... refrains from turning on the faucet, Mayor Kendrick will throw out the first ball at 3:30 o'clock and Ring and Henline of the Phils and Barnes and O'Neill, of Boston, opposing batteries will fight it out.

SEEKS TO COMPEL CARPENTIER TO FIGHT TUNNEY

NEW YORK, April 15.—An application for an injunction to prevent Georges Carpentier from meeting Tim Gibbons on May 31 was promised today by Billy Gibson, who claims to have the Frenchman under contract to meet Gene Tunney here on June 26.

Carpentier's contract with me states that the Tunney match will be his first in this country," Gibson said. "If it is necessary for me to make out an injunction against a Carpentier-Gibbons match on May 31, I will do so."

Meantime it became known today that Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons and Jack Curley who is Carpentier's American representative are enroute for Europe to persuade Carpentier to first engage with Gibbons when he returns here.

NEWARK SHORT ON PITCHING STAFF

Manager Al Schweitzer is in quest of pitching material for his Pure Oil Club, of Newark, which will open the season at Coshocton Lake Park on Easter Sunday.

At present Newark has but one hurler that the management can place confidence in and that is "Lefty" Robinson, it was stated.

Newark was out for practice Saturday and the players are rapidly rounding into shape, is the report. The Pure Oils will play practice games in the Newark Twilight League this season to get into condition for league games.

DANISH CABINET QUITS OFFICE

COPENHAGEN, April 15.—The Danish cabinet resigned today but is continuing in office provisionally at the request of the king. The resignation resulted from the Socialist victory in the recent general election.

"Watches" were originally called "personal clocks."

HANLEY TO ATTEND MILLERS' MEETING

T. J. Hanley, president of the Hanley Milling Company, will go to Columbus, Wednesday to attend the twentieth anniversary meeting of the Ohio Millers' States Association to be held there, Wednesday and Thursday.

During the sessions of the meeting a conference of representatives from the millers' association and a committee of prominent Ohio agriculturists, recently appointed by State Director of Agriculture Charles V. Truax, to discuss the provisions of the Ohio Feedstuffs Law, will be held.

Points to be considered include license fees, the publishing of reports, and analytical work. Most of the discussion, however, will center around the question of license fees. For some time there has been dissatisfaction on the part of this association in regard to the amount of money paid into the state treasury and the small proportion of it that is appropriated by the legislature for conducting affairs in the division of feeds and fertilizers. This division, according to Director Truax, is under-financed, and has sufficient funds only to employ five inspectors to cover the entire state. On the ground that this law is a revenue producer, one of two solutions are sought—to lower the license fee or increase the appropriation for this division.

Japanese Exclusion Causes War Talk; Coolidge Will Veto Measure, It Is Believed

WASHINGTON, April 16—Time was when Washington would have been in the midst of a real war scare over relations with Japan had the same situation which exists in congress today over the immigration bill been duplicated.

For congress is about to brush aside all the pleas from Japan and override not only the cautionary warning expressed by Secretary of State Hughes but the petition of the Japanese ambassador. Such a perplexing situation may mean a veto of the immigration bill by President Coolidge. Otherwise, he too will be in the position of turning down his own secretary of state and ignoring the protests of a friendly power. But even if he vetoes the bill it will pass by a two-thirds vote and be made law tho the effect of the veto may be to modify in some particulars the harshness of the action now contemplated with reference to Japan.

The present problem is not parallel to any that has been presented in the history of Japanese-American relations. The emigration from Japan has hitherto been controlled by a "gentleman's agreement" whereby Japan has refused to grant passports to any except students and businessmen thus cutting off coolie labor which has been the chief reason for California's objection to Japanese immigration. There have been charges that Japan did not enforce the agreement but the understanding was kept effective largely because the United States at the time did not discriminate against any other country except China. Japan did not wish to be placed in the same category as China. Now, however, in recent years immigration has been restricted from all countries and only a certain quota based upon the number of nationals of each country already in the United States in a particular year can be admitted. If the quota system were applied to the Japanese very few would be admitted and the objections of the Japanese probably met but the feeling in congress is such that absolute exclusion is insisted upon with respect to all persons who cannot be assimilated as American citizens.

While many senators gave as their reason for voting for exclusion the letter of the Japanese ambassador, that is not the real basis for the opposition to the Japanese. The far western senators have succeeded in converting their colleagues to their ideas of exclusion and there is a disposition in the south to assist the Pacific coast on this question.

Ambassador Hanihara's letter was not unlike previous communications to the department of state. The Japanese government has always pointed out the possibility that "grave consequences" might flow from any discriminatory action by the congress of the United States. But those communications have not been given publicity for the reason that the latest note has been a boomerang. Congress has resented any interference by foreign powers in domestic legislation. The state department can receive in confidence protests and veiled threats. That's the proper channel but when the notes become public they are viewed as coercive tactics and have the opposite effect from the one desired.

There was a time as late as five or six years ago when a war scare would have followed any such attitude as congress now is taking. Japanese pride might have compelled the Tokio government to back up its notes by the threat to use force. But there is a change in the relations between Washington and Tokio. The earthquake not only has enfeebled the Japanese navy but impoverished the country and brot it face to face with a serious economic crisis. The United States also has begun to buy more from Japan. The rivalry of naval armament has been curtailed thru the recent Washington conference treaties and there is no longer an anglo-Japanese alliance to worry the statesmen here. On the whole the situation has changed. No longer is there a war-like Japan behind the diplomatic notes and possibly, if there were it would not alter the action of congress because the right to control who shall or shall not enter the territory of the United States is a sovereign right just as zealously guarded here as it is in Tokio. For the sake of better relations, however, the softening of the effects of the blow was wanted by the department of state and undoubtedly both the president and Secretary Hughes will continue to use their influence to obtain a modified bill even tho a presidential veto may be necessary to secure that result.

BAD HEALTH FORCED SCHWARTZ FROM JOB

"My System Was All Out Of Fix And I had To Give Up Work For A Time, But Tanlac Corrected My Troubles" He Says.

"Before I took Tanlac, my health and strength were getting away from me so fast that I became alarmed," recently stated Wilfred Schwartz, a popular young man of 110 West 10th St., Covington, Ky.

"My system just seemed to be all out of fix. I had a serious case of constipation, suffered terribly with headaches and dizziness, my food bloated and pained me, and my nerves were so undone that many a night it was almost day before I could get to sleep. My weight dropped down sixteen pounds and my weakened condition forced me to give up work for a time.

"Tanlac corrected my stomach trouble and gave me an appetite as keen as a razor, and then my other miserable feelings all went winding. I now balance the scales at one hundred and sixty-one pounds, have regained all my lost weight and am still gaining. Tanlac is certainly the world's best."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million Bottles sold.

French 66 Per Cent Honest Alive, but Officially Dead.

By HARRY R. FIORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 16—Frenchmen are only 66 per cent honest concludes the newspaper Paris Soir as the result of an investigation in which 100 Frenchmen, chosen at random from a Paris city directory, five from each of twenty different walks of life, were used as subjects of analysis.

Couturiers are more honest than ministers of the gospel, tobacco dealers more honest than college professors and newspaper editors more truthful than diplomats, the investigation proved.

Each one of the 100 men selected for the test received in his mail a letter signed by "Pierre Duval," reading:

"In reply to your letter I enclose the sum of five francs in stamps, which I owe you."

Twenty-one of the recipients returned the stamps by the next mail. Thirteen, including three doctors and two cautious judges, wrote to the sender, requesting an explanation, after which they also returned the stamps which didn't belong to them.

First results thus showed an average of only thirty-four per cent honesty.

One church pastor naively wrote the sender, thanking him for the stamps received.

Some time later the Soir wrote second letters to each of the sixty-four men who failed to reply to the first letter. Thirty-two more replies were received, making the final total percentage 66.

Couturiers, judges, members of parliament and literary men scored perfect percentages, all returning the stamps which did not belong to them. Four out of five wine merchants never acknowledged either the first nor the second letter. All but one each of the editors, doctors and tobacco dealers proved themselves genuinely honest.

"We must conclude," says Paris Soir, "that most of us pay more attention to our own affairs than we do to the affairs of others."

Five years after the close of hostilities Paul Francois Charles, French war veteran, is still trying to convince the French ministry of War that he is alive and well, and not dead and buried in the national cemetery at Bar-le-Duc, as the ministry would have him believe.

Charles has just been called upon by the ministry to designate the inscription he would like to have on his tombstone. His reply will be that he is alive and well, as he has assured the ministry on four different occasions since 1916, when, while on leave at his home in Bruay-les-Mines, his family was informed that he had been killed in action.

Charles reported immediately to his regiment, the 210th infantry, effectively denying the report as to believed. He went through the remainder of the war uninjured.

In 1920 he was notified, this time by the civil authorities of his own village, that he was officially dead. Again he presented himself to prove the contrary and trusted the tangle was finally straightened out.

He failed to take into account the lack of comprehension and the abundant red tape of the ministry. In 1923, then living in Paris, he was notified to present himself at the Invalides Museum and receive the medal granted to him posthumously. Charles declined the invitation by letter.

Again at the beginning of this year the officially dead Charles was invited to assist at the ceremonies in connection with the transfer of his body from its battlefield grave to the Bar-le-Duc cemetery.

For the fourth time Charles notified the ministry that he was still alive, but the only reply was the request for a suggested inscription for his tombstone.

Charles is about ready to give up in despair, fearful that the next official letter will ask him to celebrate the anniversary of his own death.

With the recent licensing of a radio broadcasting station in Mississippi there is one or more in every state.

BARES IMMUNITY GIVEN OHIOANS IN BOOZE DEALS

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, April 16—"An inside story" of illicit whiskey deals in Ohio participated in by close friends of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, was revealed to the Wheeler-Brookhart committee today by Cecil H. Kearns of Toledo, paroled from the Atlanta penitentiary on a sentence for violating the dry law.

Kearns charged the prohibition act was openly violated in Ohio in return for campaign contributions. He cited as one instance, a contribution of $50,000 by Abe Ungerleider of Cleveland "who had an understanding that he could get his money back in liquor deals."

Another allegation that federal pardons were sold during the administration of Daugherty was made by Kearns. He charged that one prisoner, named Fred Grant, paid $25,000 for a pardon on the understanding he would be freed "thru the efforts of a Mr. Slemp."

The prisoner was freed, Kearns said, Kearns said, after serving two years of a five year sentence.

Kearns said Grant paid the $25,000 to a lawyer.

"What was the lawyer's name?" asked Senator Moses.

"I don't remember," Kearns said.

"You seem to remember Mr. Slemp's name easily enough."

"It was mentioned frequently in the case."

"Was it the usual custom down at Atlanta for the moneyed prisoners to get paroled or pardons?"

"Yes, the men with money usually got out while the poor fellows were kept in prison."

GIRL ADMITS SHE HELPED NEGRO IN FINDLAY ROBBERY

FINDLAY, April 15.—Fay Anderson, pretty 25 year-old-girl, today confessed that she assisted Donald Tucker, 25, negro, in the daylight robbery of the Mount Cory bank February 12, when $700 was obtained, police said. The girl admitted that she drove the automobile and waited for the negro to return with the loot, and then drove away under the rattle of gunfire.

Police believe she assisted Tucker in another holdup on the streets of Findlay.

Tucker was arrested here February 15, when he spent $150 for clothes at local stores. Money found on his person and the cost of the clothes totaled one-half of the money stolen from the bank but he was released when his brother signed a statement that he won the money shooting craps. He was ordered to leave the city.

Friday afternoon he returned, it was learned by police, in a new automobile stolen in Detroit. This he abandoned on the bank of a stone quarry. He was arrested after a running gun battle when he hid in a cistern filled with water.

Police today are questioning him regarding the murder of a Mexican sugar worker three years ago.

Bishop Takes Rap at Supercilious Puritan

LONDON, April 16—Puritans who elevate supercilious noses at innocently "worldly" amusements are "dangerous people," according to the Bishop of Lichfield.

"Christian people," the bishop asserted in a recent address, "are too apt to tread with heavy feet in dealing with the subject of recreation. A superior attitude," he said, "was to be deprecated."

"A certain class of Puritans," he said, "would class all indoor amusements such as dancing, the drama, picture palaces and broadcasting as worldly and hold that a Christian has no business having anything to do with them. You can not define the 'world' as easily as that. I have known actors and actresses who were most unworldly people, and I have known very pietistic people who never went within a mile of a theatre, but whose whole life was corroded with the world, principally because they have forgotten our Lord's warnings against covetousness."

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months.

Something More!

After meals you want something more—a bit of sweet with a change of flavor. WRIGLEY'S is that "something more" and it's more than that! It is a great aid to your good health, as medical authorities say.

This is from a recent book on health:

"Many physicians now recommend gum chewing . . . . for a better and more complete change of the starches into dextrin."

COLUMBUS MEN DENY TESTIMONY GIVEN BY KERNS

COLUMBUS, April 16—Allegations of Cecil J. Kerns before the Wheeler-Brookhart committee in Washington that attorney Stuart R. Bolin, of this city, while an agent of the department of justice acted as attorney for an associate of Kerns, were denied by Bolin.

William E. Halley, Columbus, also mentioned by Kerns in connection with alleged deals, said he did not "even know Kerns." Halley said he did not know of any immunity promises said to have been given for contributions to the Republican Campaign fund. He declared he knew of "no deals, no trading, nor fixing of officials."

PLAN BAKE SALE

Funds are needed now to maintain the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G. A. R. and also to help pay their share in keeping up the Oak Ridge cemetery.

In order to raise these funds the auxiliary will hold a bake sale in the room on Main formerly occupied by the [illegible] store, [illegible] store, Saturday, beginning at 10 a. m.

Their fund is also used to bear the expenses of flowers for the Civil war veterans who are ill and to send useful gifts and garments to the veterans at the soldiers' home.

EDUCATION IS SOLUTION TO PROBLEM

Appeal to Sportsmanship Should Be Heeded

By CARLTON E. BUTLER.
Radio Engineer.

A great many prominent radio men suggest that the public be educated as to how to operate their receiving sets so as not to create a nuisance for all surrounding receivers. With the tremendous amount of new radio sets being constructed daily this task seems hopeless.

For one thing the newspapers can cease presenting any type of receiving set for its readers that can be guilty of reradiating energy from the antenna. This will greatly reduce the percentage of regenerative receivers among the new sets being constructed daily.

At the same time instruction as to how to change over the present types of receiving sets should be given. A great many owners of receiving sets do not realize they are causing any inconvenience or trouble for others, or how to correct it if they are.

This angle of the problem should be considered. If radio receiving were done in public, publicity would go a long way towards remedying the trouble. A man would hesitate to do anything while his friends were watching him that would in any way be against general public opinion.

Radio receiving is done in private. That is, no one will watch you while you are operating your set, thereby lessening the fear of censure for your acts of misconduct in tuning.

This fact alone will make it difficult to eradicate the reradiating receiver evil. Selfish persons will ever take advantage of the secretiveness of radio receiving to reach out and listen to what they wish to hear whether their neighbors do or not.

Voluntary co-operation such as was obtained among the game hunters a few years ago for the preservation of the diminishing amount of wild life, must prevail among the radio audience if our enjoyment of radio receiving is to continue.

Convert your own receiver over to the non-regenerative type and see that your friends and neighbors do likewise.

For fifty years "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it has an advantage over the usual laxatives and cathartics in being harmless, almost tasteless, mild in operation and not causing nausea, griping or the slightest inconvenience; also because it has an advantage over the usual "stomach remedies" in that it is a markedly efficient antacid, neutralizing almost three times as much acid as a saturated solution of Bicarbonate of Soda and almost fifty times as much as Lime Water. Besides, it is laxative, and inasmuch as constipation is frequently the cause of sour, acid stomach, its correction usually gives prompt relief.

CLEVER NOVELTIES IN "MY CHINA DOLL"

The producer of today is at a loss to fathom out sure fire novelties for their big musical shows; they search their brains to almost destraction when suddenly an idea pops up that proves not only new but novel in its entirety.

In "My China Doll," the novel music extravaganza which is to be presented at the Sixth St. Theatre for a return engagement Thursday night, April 17, there are no less than a score of novelties that will prove a revelation to most blase theatregoers. The opening scene, The Fete of Lanterns in New York's Chinatown, presents many weird customes and manners of the Orientals. The haunting music and quaint dances are new and the holiday celebration will introduce many clever ideas.

In the land of Story Books Miss Broneli enacts the character of Cinderella, while Prince Charming and the many characters appear true to life within keeping of Grimm's picturesque version. In the land of music, she appears as Miss Ragtime surrounded by a corpse de ballet of drummer girls and a big jazz finale of music, dance and novelty in which Miss Broneil resigns as Queen of Syncopation. The stage setting will furnish a surprise novelty in itself and the big brass band an innovation in musical comedy.

The land of flowers, where a cyclone of roses is the novel feature, finds the little dancer as Rose the Queen of Flowers and the many members of the cast are gowned within keeping of the surroundings, while the ballet of roses sing and dance and romp about merrily. Following this clever stagecraft we are allowed to gaze upon a novel setting of lace in which a beautiful wedding scene is enacted. Bewildering in its artistic design, this remarkable production will prove not only a surprise but it will set a precedent for others to follow.

BUCKEYE BREVITIES

Gathered by I. N. S.

TODAY'S BRIGHT SPOT.

If any of the Elyrian unbobbed want to join the short and snappy haired sisters of the modern day, they will in the future have to come right into the barbershop, amidst the Police Gazettes, the uncollared male citizenry, and the damaging dialogue of that standard American institution.

It has taken an edict of the National Barbers' Union to force the modern maidens . . . at least those that are just becoming modern as far as coiffure goes . . . into the shops. Heretofore, the national union says, Elyria barbers have been raking in many shekels by taking their little satchels to the homes of those who wish to be bobbed and doing the shearing there. Women were fond of that custom, not that they were unappreciative of the novelty of barbershop atmosphere, but when you've considered so long about whether to cut or not to cut, it is well to be at home in case the result of the cutting brings on a good old-fashioned cry.

But now the cry, if any, must be staged amid the jeers of the barbershop inmates. The new edict of the union forbids the barbers to do any hairbobbing after office hours. Master barbers failed to get in on the divvy the other way, and all the barber made in the flapper's home was so much velvet. That's all over now.

OTTAWA—Otis Hines, 42, negro cook, may be given a new trial on the charge of second degree murder in connection with the death of Robert Halloran, boxer, it is now indicated. Halloran was shot during the strike of shop crafts in Lima, in September, 1922.

LIMA—Reward of $500 to the three men who found the body of Catherine Mohler and the payment of damages caused in the burning of two barns owned by Samuel Gratz and his brother will be made immediately by Jessie Mohler. This announcement was made when Judge Hamilton granted Mohler permission to settle claims resulting from the acts of his father, William Mohler, now in the state hospital for the insane. According to the elder Mohler's confession, he burned two barns owned by the Gratz brothers, neighbor farmers, and then killed his wife "because she knew too much." He then offered a reward in an attempt to throw aside suspicion. Edwin Good, Charles Stratton and Chris Gratz found the body, and the slayer's son will now pay the reward.

COLUMBUS — Columbus, altho the city does not wish any opportunity to prove it, was never better prepared for misfortune than it is this week. There are from 700 to 1000 nurses in the city, attending the 21st annual meeting of the Ohio State Association of Graduate Nurses. Miss Augusta Condit of the District Nurses Association of Columbus is the presiding officer. The question of 12 hours duty for private duty nurses, which has been hanging fire for more than a year, is among the important matters to come before the gathering.

TILTONVILLE—Summer arrived on a raft. The first of the season's Ohio River showboats tied up here the other day, played its calliope and put on a show. Now bring on your ball teams!

ELYRIA—George F. Yost, of Elyria, suffered five fractured ribs when he was caught in a belt shafting at the Bennet Milling Company plant at Grafton. He was brought to the hospital here in a serious condition.

BUCYRUS—A committee of citizens concerned over the report that the New York Central lines intended moving the shops of the Toledo and Ohio Central Division away from Bucyrus because the management had seen fit to cut working hours and reduce the number of employees, are in receipt of an explanation from L. S Emery, general manager. Mr. Emery stated the cut was made because the miners in the coal field were receiving a higher rate of pay than the miners in the West Virginia fields, and as a result the coal of West Virginia was being sold to consumers less than the Ohio product and was hauled by other railways. Wood coach shops at Bucyrus will be moved to Kenton, he said, but the local shops will be assigned to building steel cars to replace the wooden stock.

LIMA—Graduating is not a sport. Therefore no sports dresses will be permitted at the exercises of the South High School, according to the rules made public recently. White dresses, shoes, and hose will be worn, with no dress shorter than 12 inches from the floor.

DEFIANCE — Although two wheels of a hay-rack wagon ran over his head, Robert Cereghin, 12, did not suffer serious injury. A few bruises and scratches were the total damage.

COLUMBUS—Choice of yellow and black as colors for signs on the state highway system has been made after thorough investigation and research. Yellow was found to be better in visibility and luminosity than any other color except red and with black affords a strong contrast, Highway Director Boulay declares. The change from blue and white to yellow and black was decided upon after it was demonstrated to the full satisfaction of engineers that it would be beneficial, both in economy and efficiency.

AMHERST — Night Watchman Thomas Bruce forgot his revolver, which was an unfortunate thing to do. He intercepted five men at work looting the Plate and Pippert Clothing Store. Sticking out his mace he ordered "Hands up." The revolver was at home and the unknown thieves failed to halt when the mace was pointed at them.

MILITARY AND NAVAL TERMS

Definitions of military and naval terms, grouped together under a single heading, is one of the special features of The New Universities Dictionary now being offered to readers of this paper, contributing to the splendid success attending the distribution of the book. In reading about the war, not infrequently the reports contain some word or expression with which the average reader is unfamiliar.

The meaning of such terms can readily be had by turning to The New Universities Dictionary, as well as that of many expressions which have come into more common usage since the Continent of Europe became one vast battle ground and the high seas turned into a "danger zone" by the naval operations of the contending powers.

LIMITATION OF LOSS BY WESTERN UNION GOOD, COURT HOLDS

COLUMBUS, April 15.—Losses sustained by patrons of the Western Union Telegraph Company thru error in the transmission of telegrams may not be recovered for a sum greater than $50, the state supreme court ruled today.

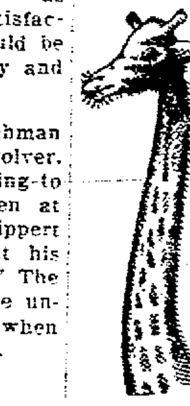

The decision was rendered in the case of E. E. Edmiston against the Western Union, of Vinton, O.

The contention of the telegraph company, that limitations stipulated on the telegraph blank constituted a contract which limited liability to a maximum of $50, was upheld.

United for Service

MAINTAINING the facilities—the plant and equipment—to carry the spoken word from city to village and from farm to market is more than a business—it is a public trust.

Every hour of the day and night, the 11,500 men and women in The Ohio Bell family are actuated by this sense of responsibility to the public they serve. The demands made by emergencies unite them in a common bond of fidelity to the interests of their patrons. They sacrifice self for service. They are ever conscious of the fact that this service, to meet the needs of the subscribers, must be continuous and uninterrupted. Whatever else may fail, telephone service must not fail. That is their creed.

The responsibility that rests upon the executives who outline the plans for meeting the public's telephone needs, and the responsibility that rests upon the men and women who make these plans effective—is mutual. All work together for the common good of the patrons. They are united for service.

WHY GROW FAT?

Druggist Tells of Easy Pleasant Way to Keep Trim Attractive Figure Even at Middle Age

Thousands of women who have had a trim, stylish figure all their lives, begin to take on weight in early middle life. And because they have heard of "Fat and Forty" - and because foolish starvation diets, ridiculous exercises and certain medicines only seem to make their condition worse, they give up all hope and say, "Oh, well, I rather be fat, anyway."

Fat that shows—Fat that comes and stays is not only cumbersome but may prove dangerous, a decided disadvantage to you; necessary activity and pleasures. So why stay that way!

No special exercises or diets! No dangerous or sickening medicines. Just a cooling, sparkling, Aperient pleasant to take—but quickly and noticeably effective.

Wimmer-Arnold Co., Siegrist & Williams, or any good druggist can supply you with a large bottle of Wendell's Salts, Ambition Brand, for 60 cents and will return your money on the first bottle purchased if you are not more than satisfied.

LOOSEN UP THAT COLD WITH MUSTEROLE

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

MARCONIS. DIVORCED. TO REMARRY.

WILLIAM MARCONI & LADY BEATRICE MARCONI & DAUGHTER

Lady Beatrice Marconi, daughter of the British peer, Lord Inchiquin, has secured a Fiume divorce from her husband, Senator William Marconi, inventor of the wireless, and has been remarried at once to the Marquis Marignoli, with whom she is spending her honeymoon at his ancestral estate at Spoleto. Senator Marconi is expected soon to marry Marquise Casati, a 20 year-old Milan society girl. The Marconis have three children, who are with their mother.

SHRINERS' FETE AT KANSAS CITY TO RIVAL EGYPT

Hundred Temples Expected to Send Their Bands and Patrols

BY W. F. SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, April 16 Old Glory will fly above all, but beneath its majestic folds will fly flags of brilliant colors, beautiful pendants will be suspended everywhere, and bright, gaudy bunting will drape buildings on all sides when the city "dresses up" in all its splendor to welcome 100,000 visitors to the local shrine at the national Shriners' convention on June 3, 4 and 5.

The entire city will resemble a miniature Egypt and go back to the age when splendor and beauty predominated and that which was not beautiful was not worth while.

Bright-colored lights of various hues will illuminate the city for the night spectacle. A color scheme of red, yellow and green will predominate in the decorations and lighting plans, in keeping with the Shrine's adopted colors.

The Shrine convention decorations and illuminations sub-committee is aiming to give an artistic touch to its work that will exceed in novelty and boldness anything of this nature ever attempted anywhere.

The three-day festival of the Shriners of the country will be an impressive one, replete with massed music, kaleidescope parades and pageants.

The decorative plans now nearing completion include a novel idea for pendant display. Under the plan huge pendants, made of a patented wall cloth, two sheets sewn together, stiffened by rods, would be hung from incandescent lamp-lined wires stretched across the streets from trolley poles.

A brilliant-hued scroll of wings, a vari-colored sphinx and a red-and-yellow Heart of America and Shrine emblem will be the figures painted on both sides of the pendants in oil colors.

Above this will be strung incandescent lamps in series of three, each color separated from its adjacent one by a red fez.

Arriving visitors at the Union Station will feast their eyes on a huge obelisk, 45 feet high, changing colors constantly. Green will merge into yellow, the yellow into red. Six huge sphinxes will guard the obelisk.

At each end of the plaza will be placed groups of four Egyptian columns, 30 feet high, painted in red, yellow and green at the base and head. Palm trees will dot imaginary desert sands.

The streets will be made to resemble red, yellow and green rivers. At each intersection will be erected Egyptian columns, 24 feet high, and sphinxes in seven colors will be stationed at intervals.

To illuminate the city at night, under present plans of the committee, 50,000 incandescent lamps of varied hues will be used. The cost of the elaborate decorations, it is estimated, will exceed $100,000.

About 100 temples are expected to send their bands and patrols, which would make a parade equal to any army division.

The local committee is anticipating a record attendance and has 7,000 rooms under contract to provide quarters for the visitors. About 25 percent of the visiting Shriners will bring their wives and other relatives, it is estimated.

The Shrine now has 542,000 members, in 155 temples in the United States. Medinah Temple, of Chicago is the largest, with 21,952 members. Other large temples are—

Syria, Pittsburgh, 16,377; Lulu, Philadelphia, 15,625; Aleppo, Boston, 14,495; Mecca, New York, 11,575; Murat, Indianapolis, 9,67; Moslem, Detroit, 9,617, and Islam, San Francisco, 9,435.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Christian church will hold its April meeting, Thursday evening, in the home of Mrs. John McCann, 1609 east Walnut-st, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Wesley Clark is leader for the evening, while the president, Mrs. Walter Fitch will have charge of the devotionals.

The Junior Woman's Music club held its April meeting Tuesday evening, in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Following a short business session a splendidly arranged and well prepared program was heard. Miss Rosemary Wise at the violin delighted with her presentation of "Melody in F" by Reubenstein. Miss Dorothy Barnes played the accompaniment at the piano. Following this, Miss Lucile Ashman gave a clever reading—"The Saleslady." Miss Kathryn Kaderley gave a beautiful rendition of "The Hungarian Dance," at the piano, preceding Miss Frances Finlay's sweet vocal number—"The Shadows," by Carrie Jacobs Bond. The closing number featured Miss Mary Barrick in her excellent paper on—"Italian Composers."

At the next meeting of the club members in the Senior Woman's Music club will be the invited guests, the date and place to be decided upon later.

The following Easter program will be given at the Franklin M. P. church, Sunday evening, April 20, at 7:30 o'clock.

Because of special Lenten services during Holy week, the meeting of the Miss Bee Mc-sionary society of Grace M. E. has been cancelled to meet Thursday evening with Miss Mabel Parrish, 258 Hamilton-av, has been postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, 545 south Seventh-st, have received a box of grape fruit and oranges from their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Hall of Lakeland, Fla., the product of their own grove.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wright, Coshocton Route 6, entertained at dinner, Sunday, for the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Workman and children Elizabeth, Robert and Wesley, Miss Fannie Wright, Miss Lucile Workman, Ira Loxcraft, Coshocton and Saddis Wright.

Miss Mary Heffelfinger was hostess to the T. H. E. class of Grace M. E. Sunday school, Monday evening, in her home, 225 Sycamore-st. After the business session, a round of amusements was enjoyed. Later refreshments were served to the Misses Mary Pigman, Ethel Staser, Mary Miller, Irene Matchett, Garnet Wheeler, Rand Gonder, Lunnie Fisher, Alice Beall, Ruth Brier, Fern Stillenberger, Hazel Fersaman, Theo Henderson, Winogene Darling, Florence Wood, Hazel Smith, Ruth Heffelfinger, Wilbren Cragg, Mildred Porter, Mary Heffelfinger and the hostess Mrs. George Goodhart.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wagner, of Coshocton Lake Park are entertaining as their house guests, Mrs. Dean Miles, of Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Russell Hanlon, 738 Main-st, entertained the members in the Tuesday luncheon-bridge club Tuesday, in her home.

Following luncheon, two tables were filled with players, Mrs. George C. Mitchell holding top score at the conclusion of the game.

Members in the club are Mrs. George C. Mitchell, Mrs. Harry B. Hunt, Mrs. Otis G. Morse, Mrs. Vincent Thrapp, Mrs. F. D. Johns, Mrs. Charles Holman, Miss Beulah Darnes and Mrs. Russell Hanlon.

The Ladies Aid society of the New Castle M. E. church will hold an all day meeting, Wednesday, April 23, in the home of Mrs. Charter Graham, rather than with the calendared hostess, Mrs. Cochran.

Mrs. Rebecca Parrish and daughter, Miss Ruth, 378 Hamilton-av, Miss Faith Johnson, south Third-st, and Mrs. Herman Johnson, of Nelsonville, will motor to Pittsburgh, Pa., Friday for a week end outing with relatives.

Mrs. Parrish and Miss Parrish will visit the former's son, Mrs. Parrish remaining for a week or longer. Mrs. Johnson and Miss Faith will be the guests of relatives in Tarentum.

Mrs. Lee I. McCammant, 650 Locust-st, has gone to Columbus for a several days visit with her sister, Mrs Herbert Hudson.

Three Piece Suit A Knitted Triumph

NO FEMININE wardrobe will be considered complete this season unless it contains a knitted costume of three-piece handling. Every woman loves a knitted dress, and for the early Spring and Summer, the complementing jacket adds a note of undeniable smartness to the general ensemble.

There are many varied treatments, of course, but one of the most popular versions shows a knitted frock of the chemise type accompanied by a straight, jaunty box jacket, about wrist length. The medium may be wool or silk or a combination of both.

But in any event, there are mediums and colors to coincide with all tastes. Individual effects are obtained through the introduction of stripes and checks and plaids, applied very often in border formation. Sometimes the entire skirt of the frock shows the striped treatment, with a similar border on the lower edge of the jacket, collar and sleeves. Interesting indeed are the peasant style sleeves making their appearance on many of the smartest suits.

The soft boyish collar, with its graceful streamer ties, will become almost any wearer.

Powder blue with white is a favored color combination, and the various tones of green are much in the fore.

—O—O—

Following the supper party 50 members in the P. E. P. club were present for an informal social time at the conclusion of an entertaining program. Interesting questionaires were filled out and at the next meeting these will be answered. The topic for this meeting will be general rules of etiquette. Music and games were also indulged in and refreshments were served.

The Educational Committee and the Membership Committee both met last evening but with our conveniently arranged headquarters, a quiet room for each group was possible.

The assembly hall was given over to the Junior Woman's Music club which held its April meeting Tuesday evening. Divers uses are being made of this room, and especially the stage. The Tiny Y club, composed of Eighth grade girls gave a novel playlet Tuesday afternoon.

On Friday afternoon the Winona Club will "have the stage", and they are arranging for a brief playlet. Just the right opportunity to develop self confidence, poise and composure in public speaking. It is teaching our girls to develop into leaders and worthwhile speakers.

Because of Holy Week, the regular class of hoolers will not meet Friday evening, as usual.

Everything is coming along nicely for the annual Federation banquet, on Thursday evening, April 24 at 6:30 o'clock. This marks the first annual banquet to be held in our new headquarters and we are especially eager for a larger attendance than usual. Come along girls and bring your mothers. Members in the Rebecca lodge will serve the dinner and they must know at least two days in advance. Please phone in or stop in and make your reservations. Tickets are on sale for 50 cents.

Y. W. C. A. NEWS

Every available space was occupied in our new headquarters, Tuesday evening, with club gatherings, committee meetings and social functions, and it is indeed with pleasure we welcome these organizations and persons into our rooms.

Not only organizations, clubs and business engagements, but personal social affairs, as well, are being held here. In so far as it is possible, a personal invitation is being extended to all young women of the city, and especially the young industrial woman, the employed or business girl, to take advantage of our home, which is YOUR home, too.

On last evening a group of ten young women from the American Art Works met for an informal supper party. If persons so desire, they are permitted to the use of the kitchen in preparing their own meals, or they may be ordered sent in.

GUNMEN FIRE ON KLANSMAN'S HOME; ONE IS WOUNDED

MARION, Ill., April 16.—Ross Lisenby was shot in the leg here about 2 a. m. today when a carload of gunmen swooped down on the home of Sam T. Sterns, exalted cyclops of the Marion Ku Klux Klan and poured about twenty bullets into the house.

Lisenby, one of the klan-men indicated several weeks ago, was the only one hit. Occupants of the house sought safety by lying on the floor. Nearly all the windows in the house were shot out.

No arrests have been made. Sheriff George Galligan denied he had requested troops.

The attack followed the arrests here late yesterday of city Judge E. N. Bowen, John Garavisglea and Dominick Leni by S. Glenn Young, on charges of illegal voting in the city election.

BAZAAR TO CLOSE IN 3 MORE DAYS

The white elephant bazaar in the Carnegie library rooms will close Saturday night, one of the members of the Scholarship fund of the local City Federated Club said Wednesday.

The bazaar has been meeting with success. More clothes, household goods, shoes, etc. are needed so that they may be disposed of by Saturday.

WHY WOMEN LOOK 60 AT 40.

With dark circles under their eyes, sallow complexions, drawn expressions, drooping shoulders, a lagging step, many women of forty have the appearance of women of sixty. In many cases this condition is caused by overwork or neglect of such warning symptoms, as headaches, backaches, nervousness. Replacements, and irregularities which indicate ailments peculiar to women. If all women so afflicted would only turn upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound it would restore them to a normal healthy condition and the premature signs of age will soon disappear.

GRAND JURY WILL TAKE OVER PROBE OF OIL LEASING

WASHINGTON, April 16. — The empanelling of a special grand jury to investigate the Fall-Denby oil leases to Harry Sinclair and E. L. Doheny was started here today.

Four jurors were selected and a special additional venire of 150 men were ordered to be on hand on April 25 to complete the jury.

Arguments will be heard on the same date on Sinclair's demurrer to the indictment charging him with contempt of the senate in refusing to testify further in the senate's oil investigation.

MARRIED THREE WEEKS, OUT OF WORK, SUICIDES

COLUMBUS, April 16.—Married three weeks ago, out of work and his wife ill, Harry Eisel, 21, committed suicide by swallowing poison here today at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Voorhis, with whom Eisel and his wife were living.

MONEY OF NO VALUE

"Life had no pleasures for me. Although I had plenty of money it was of no value, as my stomach almost constantly distressed me. I lost faith in all doctors and medicine. Talking with my druggist about my case he advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I am now enjoying life again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal poisons from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

AMERICAN OLYMPIC COMMITTEE MUST BEG FOR MONEY

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, April 16—Faced with the responsibility of supporting the United States Olympic team in the fashion to which it is accustomed, the American Olympic committee today volunteered information that was tantamount to the plea that it is bordering on a state of insolvency. The committee in as few words as possible stated that it was broke after paying a second installment of $40,000 on the steamship America.

A third installment is due on May 15, and in speaking of this delicate matter, the committee inferred that it might have to clutch a tin cup firmly, don blue goggles and go out on the highways for the money that an American public seems so reluctant to advance. The committee seems to fear that patriotism will not come to a boil before June 16, when the team is scheduled to sail for Paris.

ANOTHER PROMOTER TRYING TO OBTAIN CARPENTIER BOUT

NEW YORK, April 16.—Competition for the services of Georges Carpentier was increased today by the announcement of Lou Raymond, matchmaker for the Queensboro Stadium, that he will seek a bout between the Frenchman and Mike McTigue, world's light heavyweight champion. Billy Gibson, who claims that he has Carpentier signed to meet Gene Tunney on June 20 has threatened to take out an injunction to prevent Floyd Fitzsimmons, Michigan City promoter, from staging a Carpentier-Gibbons match on May 31.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c

Tagging The Bases

George Sisler, the well known invalid, found his impaired health such a handicap that all he could do was to lead his Browns to a 7-to-3 victory over the White Sox in his debut as manager. The sick man, playing his first game since 1922, handled fifteen chances at first, drove in the first run in the opening inning and later the run that broke the tie in the fifth.

In a free scoring game the Reds came up from the rear and beat the Pirates, 6 to 5 in the ninth when Meadows became generous, passed two men and allowed Burns to single and Roush to lift a sacrifice fly.

Starting exactly where they left off the Braves and Phils, chronic also-rans, staged a 6 to 6 tie in 11 innings.

The Yankees got away running by disposing the Red Sox, 2 to 1. Wambsganns kicking the game away in the ninth inning with successive errors behind Ehmke.

The Sox got only two hits off Shawkey and Hoyt.

Sensational fielding by Cobb, Speaker and Heilman and Blues home-run over the center field fence in the sixth featured the Tigers' victory over the Indians.

President Coolidge threw out the first ball and Walter Johnson mowed down the Athletics with four hits, the Senators winning, 4 to 0.

The old Giant bugaboo pitching weakness, again cropped up, the Dodgers driving Ryan from the box and beating the Giants 3 to 2. Reuther left-handed the champions to death.

The enemy was ahead when our heroes came to bat in the last half of the ninth but virtue would not be denied. Climbing aboard Aldridge, the Cardinals hammered out three runs and beat the Cubs 6 to 5.

DEMAND FOR NEW DICTIONARY PHENOMENAL

"From the way the people are crowding in here to get these dictionaries, I venture to predict this town is destined before long to become the intellectual center of the universe." Thus spoke a young woman employed at one of the counters from which The New Universities Dictionary, being offered by this paper to its readers, is being distributed.

The demand for the book has been phenomenal, large numbers having been distributed within the past week, and the publishers have been called upon repeatedly to replenish the fast vanishing supply. The distribution has been heavy, indicating that this paper is giving its readers, at a nominal cost, an opportunity to satisfy a long-felt want.

Such popularity must be deserved

BIG HITS don't just happen. Popularity doesn't come ready-made.

GUN BATTLE TAKES TOLL OF 5 WOUNDED

GARY, Ind., April 16—Three Gary police officers fell wounded in a running gun battle which traced its crackling staccato from Indiana Harbor to Gary and claimed five wounded today before its final victim fell.

The wounded officers—

Motorcycle policeman Ormaruf Pospichal, shot thru hand.

Patrolman John Feigelle, shot thru both legs and thru hand.

The fleeing desperado whose gun started the pitched battle was believed dying in Murphy hospital, shot thru the head and four times thru the arms. He gave physicians the name of Joseph Boosquis and said his relatives were in Mexico City.

In Indiana Harbor Boosquius boarded an interurban for Gary. Gary police had been notified. Patrolman Feigelle walking his beat, saw Boosquius alight from the interurban. He called on him to halt and the desperado opened fire. Feigelle fell wounded, returning the fugitive's fire as he fell.

EXPLAINS SHORTAGE OF GRADUATE NURSES

COLUMBUS, April 16.—Increased absorption of graduate nurses by public health, schools and industrial organizations accounts for the shortage of graduates for private service in Ohio, Miss Caroline McKee, chief examiner of nurse registration, told 300 graduate nurses attending the conference of the Ohio State Graduate Nurses' Association here today.

There is no shortage in the student field, Miss McKee stated, as every one of the training places in the state have the full quota. Enrollment of students in 1923 totaled 2292, compared with 1968 in 1919, Miss McKee pointed out.

Financing The Schools

PERHAPS the most outstanding fact developed at the public meeting held under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association for the discussion of ways and means for the future maintenance of the public schools is the division of opinion that exists among the members of the Board of Education as to the proper disposition of the money in the various funds.

The majority of the board inclines to a strict interpretation of all the statutes enacted for preserving the integrity of the several funds to which the schools' share of the taxes are distributed. The majority members are inclined to abide strictly by the letter of the law and thus to refuse to sanction any temporary shifting of money from one fund which is "long" to another fund which is "short." These three members are what constitutional lawyers would term strict constructionists, or in church parlance, fundamentalists.

The minority members are inclined to a more liberal interpretation of the school laws. They are opportunists. They believe in meeting each emergency as it arises and if in so doing it is necessary to shift money temporarily from one fund to another, they do so in full knowledge that while there has been a technical violation of the statute, it is of such a character that state examiners, while calling attention to the violation, do nothing more. In support of this policy they point to the fact that this procedure is backed by ample precedent in the conduct of former boards.

The community at large, of course, will divide along similar lines. Admittedly each side can present convincing argument to sustain its viewpoint. The minority members urge that it is all school money and that if one fund has a surplus and another is in immediate need there is no vital principle of sound finance broken by a temporary transfer of money from one fund to another. They point to the fact that not only have local school boards followed this practice in the past, but that school boards generally the state over have been guilty of the same technical violations and that state examiners and school authorities for years have winked at the practice and have even suggested to local boards to pursue this course to tide them over a temporary shortage in a given fund. In other words, they argue that the general aim of the law is correct, but that there are times when common sense plainly indicates the propriety of a technical infraction of the law.

A homely illustration of this viewpoint may be found in the almost universal practice of overdrawing bank accounts. A man's check book stub may show that he has only $30 to his credit in the bank. But he may have perfectly good checks and currency in his possession and ready to deposit amounting to $300. Before depositing it he writes and mails out a check for $325. Technically he has violated the banking law, but he is simply presuming on the fact that before the check returns he will have made it good by a $300 deposit and will still retain a balance of $5.

While this practice is common and is possibly excusable, it will be readily conceded that it must be kept within certain clearly defined limitations or chaos must inevitably result in all banking operations. And it is just here where the members of the Board of Education divide and, presumbaly, the public with them. The members of the majority group say that the bounds of safety have already been transgressed. They hold that to resort to a further shifting of funds, in view of the chaotic condition of school money generally, would no longer be a mere temporary and technical evasion of the statutes enacted to maintain the integrity of the several funds, but a material violation whose commission would result in the taking by the state school authorities or the courts of drastic action against the local board.

The majority members declare that regardless of what has been done in the past, similar action now is no longer justifiable because the schools are in a worse condition financially today than they ever were before. So strong are they in this conviction that it is believed the clerk of the board, Mrs. Miller, expressed the deliberate judgment of the majority members when she declared publicly at Monday evening's meeting that she would resign before involving the various funds further by a transfer of cash from one to the other.

In the long run perhaps the decision of the majority of the board is wiser. For the immediate purpose, that of finishing the school year and keeping this the most important of all our municipal functions intact, the policy of the two minority members undoubtedly makes a strong appeal to the popular mind. But eventually the problem of school finance, as well as the problem of all other municipal finances, must be solved not on the basis of expediency, on the basis of "passing the buck," but it must be solved in keeping with the well established principles upon which all solvent concerns are financed, that of keeping expenditure well within income and of laying up a penny for a rainy day.

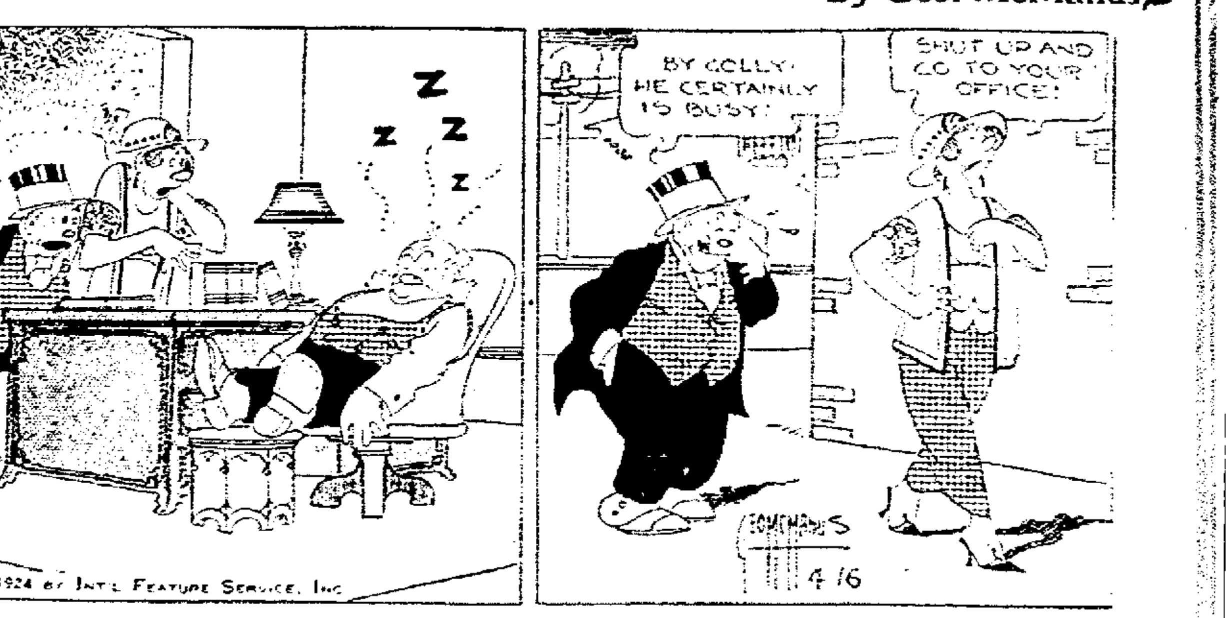

To do this, of course, involves an entirely new method of taxation. As Mr. Frederickson well said at Monday night's meeting, there will have to be in the near future a different approach to all matters of this kind and this new approach involves constitutional changes. Nothing can be truer than this. Our cities are hamstrung by inflexible statutory and constitutional provisions which are not only uncalled for, but positively calamitous in their effects. No better proof of the power of the so-called "uniform rule" of taxation to work evil in all of our taxing jurisdictions can be found than in the very plight in which our counties and cities in Ohio are now floundering. For three generations Ohio people have been sorely handicapped by this unfair, unscientific system of taxation and as our municipalities grow in population and wealth and our civilization becomes more complex it daily becomes a heavier burden upon industry and commerce and finance.

To return to our school situation, it is too much to expect that the members of the Board of Education will always be in accord on every proposition that comes before them. Such a situation never did prevail in any public body nor on the directorate of a private corporation, but it does not follow from this that the members of the school board need make a personal matter of their differences. They have enough of a battle before them in meeting an admittedly serious condition of school affairs without engaging in personal verbal fights among themselves and in public.

The people have their eyes on the schools now as never before. They are willing to back the Board of Education in any feasible scheme for a permanent betterment of school financing. And out of respect to this sound public attitude the least the members of the board can do is to display the same spirit of civic loyalty and patriotism and buck the job that confronts them of keeping the Coshocton schools on a par with the best in the land and eventually to stand on a financial plane where every dollar that future boards receive from current taxation will go to the maintenance of our schools and their betterment, instead of forever feeding the insatiable maw of bond issues and the blighting charge of interest.

BRINGING UP FATHER

—By Geo. McManus

New York Day-by-Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 16.—Two of the most successful plays of the season on Broadway deal with commonplace incidents among commonplace people. In one the hero is a young man whose mind blots up all the cheap catch phrases of advertising slogans.

In the other there is a dull-minded husband and his equally dullminded wife who live the drab life thousands live in complete content. One surmises the theatre is going thru considerable purging of the unregenerate themes that have characterized it of late.

The play that portrays ordinary lives has always been popular from the days of "The Old Homestead" on. People have grown rather tired of [illegible] the jaunty Magdalenes and their castigating languages of the brothel.

Rich old roues and gaudy girls [illegible] for a time but the bulk of the theatrical going [illegible] ordinary [illegible] one that [illegible]

when they grew too vulgar six that were presented lingered only for a few days. The scabrous spectacle of a performance being played in the confines of a bagnio resulted in an entire cast being indicted.

The theatre does not need squalor of language to make it interesting. The two excellent plays that are such successes haven't a line or situation that could not be heard or seen by Aunt Prue from Boston.

There is a Paris perfumer who has opened up a perfume salon on Madison Avenue. His specialty is blending perfume to personality. He studies the patron carefully and claims to be exact in his science. His products are only for the rich. A small vial of his personality blend costs $50. He has been here only a few months but he does a big volume of business.

The perfumer's sign shows how easily New York will be gouged for swank. He permitted me to inhale the fragrance of one of his blends concocted for a rich dowager. It might have been a high-grade blending but it smelled to me like the mixture of a horse collar and the inside sole of a sick shoe.

Another importation is a Frenchman who has opened up a "soul control institute" where young girls become masters of themselves. He is the type that wears a flowing robe and chases the buttercup over the dewy lawn at dawn. He has about 40 students and one of their stunts is to hold hands about a table laden with roses and recite some flowery phrases to their inner consciousness. One of the best ways for a modern young girl to get a strangle hold on her soul these days, I believe, is to tackle the dinner dishes or wrestle with a mop in the kitchen.

A man alone at a matinee feels quite conspicuous for some reason or other. Also he feels a guilty sluggard. I was at one the other day—two rheumatic old men made up the rest of the male section of the audience. I felt like going out and borrowing a linotyper's card, displaying it in my hat to show them I labored at night.

There is a New York business man who has received about 15 new books from friends recently. He has replied to each that he "enjoyed perusing them." He did peruse them but did not read them. Gladstone had the best formula. He always wrote: "I lost no time in reading your book."

WITH US IN SPIRIT

Kalamazoo, Michigan,
April 14, 1924.

Editor The Tribune,
Coshocton, Ohio.

I note from your papers that the Eastern Ohio Baseball League opens the season on Easter day. I hope it is ideal for this opening and it certainly takes me back to the baseball days in Coshocton. I assure you I will be there in spirit.

I want to see Coshocton win the pennant and I hope the management will have a successful season both financially and otherwise and hope that they will have as good players as any team in the league.

I want to say right now that Jimmy Edwards wants to be watched with his crew as he is lining up a very strong aggregation, but I know Bill Robertson with his tricky plays and good judgment will make them all set up and take notice.

Kindly give all the players my regards and also all in the office and if they ever get hugry for good fishing, Kalamazoo has ideal spots for the best fishing in this section of Michigan, many beautiful lakes and plenty of good fishing.

Yours in sport,
OTTO BRICE.

IMPROVING ON NATURE

My nose was good and useful, and with it I could smell the roses red and juiceful that wrew in yonder dell. In color it was pleasing, a sort of reddish roan, and when it came to sneezing my nose could hold its own. I should have been contented, if not swelled up with pride, to breathe the zephyrs scented thru nostrils large and wide. Then came the surgeon-plastic, a scientific freak, who muttered things sarcastic about my good old beak. "Your nose is sure a fizzle," he said, "it's out of true; but with my plane and chisel I'll make it good as new. The methods that I follow are strictly up to date; I'll make a bright Apollo of any homely skate. I'll make your nose a feature of which you may be proud, admired by every creature in yonder surging crowd." My truer instincts told me to let this graft alone; "tho plastic surgeons scold me, my nose is still my own." But still I had a yearnin with handsome scouts to tread, and my sad thots kept turning to what that surgeon said. A superman I thot him, of knowledge deep and shrewd; and so at last I sought him and had my nose renewed. And now my nose is sorer than seven boils in line, and there is no restorer for such a beak as mine. The surgeon wrenched and pried it and pulled it out of plumb, and now I always hide it when I see people come.

COL. COLE DENIES KERNS' CHARGES

FINDLAY, O., April 16.—Col. Ralph D. Cole, former congressman, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1926, and prominent for a score of years in Ohio politics, was on record today with an emphatic denial of testimony given yesterday in Washington before the Wheeler-Brookhart committee investigation of the department of justice by Cecil H. Kerns, paroled prisoner, linking his name with that of Howard Mannington, Abe Underleider and William E. Hailey as the men who furnished political influence to insure the unlawful withdrawal of liquor from government warehouses.

"It is absolutely false," Col. Cole declared.

ECZEMA TORTURE RELIEVED INSTANTLY!

Marvelous New Treatment Costs 35c Money Back If It Fails

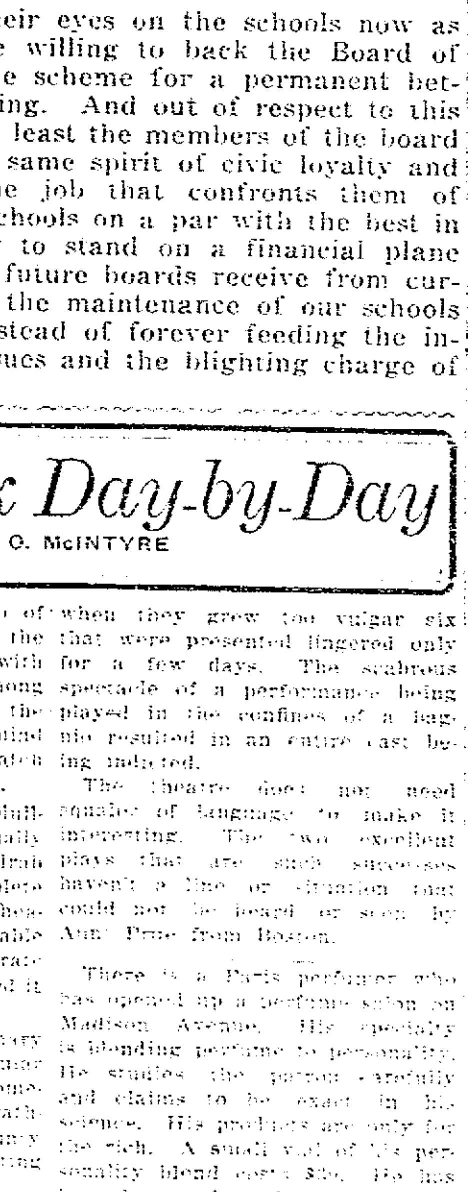

If you suffer from itching Eczema or a scaly, crusty skin blemish; if you know the maddening torture of some "fiery" skin irritation, you should be glad to hear of this new inexpensive treatment that brings such quick relief.

A clean, snow-white, fragrant cream that rubs right in without grease or stain—that works so very quickly you can really feel it heal—and Noxzema is its name.

All good druggists sell Noxzema on a strictly money back if not satisfied guarantee. Trial size, enough to last for weeks, costs 35 cents. If you want to see how clear and beautiful your skin can really be—better try this pleasant treatment tonight.

BETTY CHANGES HER MIND ABOUT SOMETHING.

MY, how Betty's face did cloud up when her mama told her she would have to wear the same dress to school that she had worn the day before.

"Oh, I just hate to wear my old blue dress again," she pouted, stamping her feet. "All the other girls have on such pretty dresses and I have to wear the same old thing."

Betty slammed the door after her as she left the kitchen and ran upstairs.

"I just wish mama had to go t——," she began, when a step on the stairs behind her startled her. Betty turned around and saw that her little friend, Gocomeback, was following her up the stairs.

"Gracious!" he laughed as Betty's face changed from frowns to smiles at sight of him. "You had better smile at me or I'm liable to stumble and tumble down again. I've been trying for a long time to get you to see me, but the frowns on your face were so thick you couldn't see me."

"There Goes the Bell."

"I know it," laughed Betty, "but I guess you would feel the same way if you were in my shoes and had to wear that old blue dress again to-day. I wore it yesterday and I don't want to wear it to-day."

"Is that all that worries you?" asked Gocomeback. "Well, I think my little friends across the water have the right idea about school clothes. I was just going over there for a visit. You have plenty of time, so come along."

Like a flash, Betty was whisked right off the stairs. She sailed through the air, over mountains and seas, and when she was set down again on the ground, it was in a strange country.

Crowds of little girls, all wearing black aprons and wooden shoes, passed them.

"Where are we, anyway?" she whispered to Gocomeback. "Where are the little orphan children going?"

"What makes you think we are orphans?" asked one little girl who had overheard Betty's whisper. "We're not orphans at all. We're on our way to school."

"Well, in America," explained Betty, "most of our orphans dress alike in blue dresses. So I thought you were orphans because you were all in black aprons."

"Gracious, no!" laughed the little girl. "You see in Belgium all school girls dress in these black aprons, so we can't spill ink on our good clothes. Then too, our good teacher says that when we all dress alike we can keep our minds on our studies. If everyone had on a different dress, we'd be gazing around at the different clothes instead of studying.

"Our teacher says that it looks so much better to see all of us wearing the same kind of aprons, than to see fifty different colors staring her in the face. I guess she's right. We children can't feel hurt because our neighbor has on a better dress than we have. But there goes the bell. Good-by." And away she ran to join her companions.

Betty started. The bell she thought was the school bell in Belgium was her own school bell. Without a word, she slipped into her blue dress, kissed her mama good-by and hurried off to school.

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

(C) 1924, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

How Lillian Took the Situation in Hand.

LILLIAN'S ring! At the grateful sound I stepped in my hurried toilette for a little [illegible] of thanks and hurried into the livingroom, where I pressed the button which opened the outside apartment door.

Mrs. Marks was no longer talking. The sudden ring just as she was [illegible] assuring the detective at the door that the bell was out of order, evidently had nonplussed even her impudent assurance for a second, and the detective was taking advantage of the fact to bluster.

"I thought so," he said raucously. "You've been lyin' to me all the time. Now you open this door, and let me in to see this Mrs. Graham, or I'll know the reason why."

"Oh, see what a long tail our cat's got!" was the only answer she vouchsafed him, and fearing that the thing would develop into a wordy brawl which would attract the attention of the other tenants, I stepped into the hall.

"Thank you, Mrs. Marks, for answering the door," I said, cordially, and then I turned to the man, and swept his person with a coolly inquiring look.

A Friend In Need.

"Aren't you the man who wished me to patronize your baggage delivery auto in Sag Harbor?" I queried distantly. "I cannot imagine what you are doing here!"

"Can't you?" he sneered. "Well, do you want me to tell you out here in the hall, or will you let me in?"

There was the distinct threat in his voice, and I saw that he counted upon my probable hatred of a scene. Mrs. Marks thrust her face past mine close to the door.

"Don't you let the likes of him bluff you, dearie," she advised, and was about to let loose a volley of abuse at him when I caught her arm. Lillian, bag in hand, had just come into sight around the bend of the stairs. This was what I had been waiting for. Lillian had most of the threads of the affair in her capable hands. I would turn this particular snarl over to her. With a little welcoming smile I accosted her.

"There is someone here, Lillian, whom I think you wish to see," I said, trying to make my voice and demeanor that of a school teacher turning a refractory boy over to the principal.

She set down her bag and surveyed the man from head to foot with a coolly insolent glance.

"Ah! yes!" she said. "The gentleman who has been taking such an interest in us lately. How fortunate that he should call just now. Thank you, Madge," as I swung open the door into the apartment. "Won't you come in?" She turned to the man with punctilious courtesy.

He tried to swagger.

Lillian Is Amused.

"I don't know whether I will or not," he growled with a venomous glance at Mrs. Marks, who was leaning against the wall, giggling openly.

Lillian picked up her bag and passed him as if he were nowhere within her vision.

"As you wish," she said calmly, and as she came through the door Mrs. Marks sprang forward, her hand upon the chain, and confronted the detective, who, with a sudden descent from his pose, had shuffled rapidly after Lillian.

"Sure you know what you want to do?" she queried offensively. "I hain't got no time to be botherin' with lightnin' change artists. I told you my pie was burnin' up in the oven, so if you're comin' in here, git a move on you."

The man growled something in his throat as he came into the hall and Mrs. Marks, after she had put up the chain, called out a parting mockery as she tripped back down the hall:

"You want to take care of that in-growin' disposition, cull," she advised. "It might fester on you. Ta, ta, ladies! If you need any help lookin' after the menagerie, just sing out, and I'll come a runnin' with the iron hook."

Lillian's eyebrows were a trifle elevated as she passed into our living-room, and I guessed that she did not quite approve of the general air of being perfectly at home which Mrs. Marks radiated. But there was also a tiny quirk at the corner of her lips which told me that she enjoyed my neighbor's baiting of the clumsy detective as much as I did.

THERE'S a question—among many related to it—that agitates the heart of every girl who lives: "How can I make him love me and hold him tight all the days after?" Who can answer this greatest of all double-barreled questions. Who? No one but Cupid and he—ah, he requires many books brimming with wisdom and clear tender words of love's enlightenment wiser far than book learning in a lecture—to tell the secret of the magic. What to do—what not to do—all the countless things of love—how EAGERLY each girl listens to the words that fall upon her ears and echo in her heart like the peals of wedding chimes!

Three-Minute Journeys

WHERE MORE POETS LIVE THAN IN ANY OTHER LAND.

ONE of the strangest and least visited countries in the world is Iceland, that huge island up under the Arctic Circle, about half way between Europe and America, which belongs to Denmark, although it enjoys a great measure of home rule.

Contrary to the general idea, Iceland is not a land of eternal snow. The inhabited sections enjoy a comparatively mild climate. [illegible] during the Winter [illegible] than thirty [illegible]

Instead of "Iceland" this strange island should be named "Volcano Land." It has no less than one hundred and seven volcanoes more or less active. It contains lava beds as large as the State of Connecticut. The entire island, by the way, is larger than New England.

In Iceland more than eighty thousand people reside. Most of them are farmers who raise cattle and sheep. The largest town contains about 18,000 inhabitants. The visitor to Iceland finds it a country of contradictions. Its people are well educated and intelligent. They publish no less than eighteen newspapers. On the other hand there are no railroads and few good roads. Almost all traveling is done on horseback, and goods are transported in rough carts.

For its size, Iceland has produced more poets than perhaps any other nation in the world, and in its public library, which contains fifty thousand volumes, are preserved copies of the finest epics ever written in any tongue.

The Vikings have been in Iceland since the middle of the ninth century, and from it their galleys set forth to the discovery of Greenland and New England, which they called Vineland. Even before the Norse discovery it is believed that Irish monks settled in Iceland, and traces of their occupation have been found by the Norse settlers.

THE HOME KITCHEN

The Authority on Home Cooking

Four Ways to "Dress Up" a Home Dinner.

UNUSUAL little dinners are always appreciated for the home tables and "made dishes," so called, are quite a treat instead of the heavier roasts that [illegible] the Sunday table. These little dinners are not perhaps cheaper than a roast, which lasts for more than one meal, but they are a change, and as such are welcome.

Sausage Steeples.

Make a good pie crust and roll it out thin, then cut it in strips three inches wide. Remove six sausages from their cases and season the meat with a little pepper, salt, the juice of an onion, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a teaspoonful of minced celery leaves and a tablespoonful of very finely chopped walnut meats. Add a beaten egg and a tablespoonful of cream. Spread the pastry strips thickly with the mixture, then roll them and pinch the tops to steeple shape and place them on a shallow buttered baking-pan. When the pastry is cooked the sausage mixture will be done. Remove the steeples to a hot dish and serve them with apple sauce.

Sweetbread and Oyster Pie.

Parboil a large pair of sweetbreads in salted water for twenty minutes, then blanch them in cold water for five minutes, trim and dice them. Drain a quart of oysters—about four dozen—and heat the liquor. When it is at boiling point drop in the oysters and cook them two minutes, then drain them. Make two cupfuls of well-seasoned cream sauce and add the sweetbreads and oysters. Have ready a dish lined with good crust. Pour in the mixture, cover it with the top crust, in which vents have been pierced, and bake until the crust is done. Serve the pie hot.

Escalloped Scallops.

Add to one quart of fresh scallops a beaten egg, pepper, salt, the juice of a large onion and a tablespoonful of chopped capers. Butter a baking-dish and dust it with fine crumbs. Put in a layer of the scallops, then a layer of crumbs. Dot this layer with butter, add another layer of scallops, then crumbs and so on until all the materials are used. Sprinkle a little grated English cheese over the top, add a small cupful of rich milk or light cream and bake the scallops about half an hour in a medium oven.

Sauced Eggs.

Heat a shallow baking-dish, then put in little lumps of butter to grease it well. Break in carefully, eight or more eggs without breaking the yolks. Pour over them a sauce consisting of one ounce of butter, a little spiced syrup, pepper and salt, and bake them until they are set. Serve them garnished with broiled bacon strips.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young woman twenty-five years old. For the past year I have gone with a young man six years younger than me. I am deeply in love with this young man. Every one tells me I am wasting my time keeping company with him.

As I have no parents to advise me, I wish your honest opinion as to whether a marriage with this young man would be a success. This young man has many good qualities, but his parents are rather disreputable. As he loves me dearly, I believe that my influence would prevent him from becoming "a chip off the old block." What shall I do?

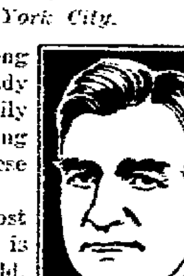

ORPHELINE.

ORPHELINE: You will be wise, my dear, if you consider well all phases of the situation, before consenting to marry a man younger than yourself. Personally, I do not approve of such marriages, especially under such circumstances as you relate. Be careful that you are not mistaking pity for love. So think it over well and think not alone of the present, but of the future.

YOUR HEALTH

Have Your Child Examined If He Has "Spring Fever"

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

SPRINGTIME and the approach of the long vacation bring many demands on the already busy mother. The boys and girls of the family have worked hard during the school year. Spring examinations have been an added strain on these children.

Periodic examinations for everyone are a most important part of health preservation. This is particularly true in the case of the school child.

Long hours in school, a cold lunch, perhaps an hour or more on the train to get to the school, and insufficient sleep, are some of the reasons for lowered resistance in these children.

With lowered resistence come such ailments as colds, tonsilitis, indigestion, perhaps measles and other infections. Most of these conditions can be guarded against by regular examination of the child and the correction of the small defects which are found.

Included in these examinations should be a survey of the heart, teeth, tonsils, nasal sinuses and the urine.

Remember that most children of school age do not as a rule complain much of their aches and pains. Not until there is fever, upset digestion and real illness is the mother aware that something is wrong.

Then may follow weeks of illness for the child, and added work and worry for the mother.

Let me again impress upon you that regular attention given the child all through the year will carry him through the school year and to vacation time without mishap.

Good simple food, meals at regular hours, a sensible lunch to take to school, at least nine hours' sleep each night—all these will do much to keep the children in good health.

The ailments of Springtime are not due to the weather. They are due in the first place to the run-down condition caused by a Winter of hard work and rich food.

The listlessness of Springtime has some relation to the temperature, but it has a physical basis, the importance of which cannot be overlooked.

Every parent should give heed, especially at this season, to the needs of the child. A little attention now will save anxiety later.

Answers to Health Questions

MRS. F. E. Q.—Will you advise me what makes my chest pain just below my shoulders and also the cause of slight smothering spells while doing my housework?

A.—This condition might be due to a number of things. I would advise having your chest examined to determine the cause in your particular case.

* * *

E. F. L. Q.—If one were suffering from ulcers of the stomach, would this condition show on an X-ray?

A.—As a rule the ulcer is seen by the X-ray. If you have symptoms of this condition, and it is not shown on the picture, it would be well to have another X-ray taken.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT Stepping Out of Yourself

Copyright, 1924, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

THEY found him wandering in the rain dazed and confused the other day, the man who disappeared from home six months ago.

And somebody sent for his wife and she brought all the children and came and met him, and as soon as she spoke he remembered her and he knew the children, and they all cried together and went home very happy.

And it seems the man didn't remember a thing or who he was or where he came from and had been very poor and very ill and very lonely and his wife and their children were living in their comfortable home wondering and wondering what had happened to John.

And John does not drink and never was known to step from the straight and narrow path. But one day he went out of the house and forgot his name and couldn't tell where he lived and lost all idea of his own business and went and found work somewhere digging ditches. Then all at once, after some months, he woke up in the ditch with his shovel in his hand and he looked at the shovel and wondered where he'd got it and couldn't think what he was doing at all. And he laid down the shovel and wandered away and now he's at home selling real estate again and everything is all right—for awhile.

What Made Him Forget?

I wonder what really made him forget.

Was there something he didn't like to remember, and did it keep wearing and wearing on his mind till finally he had his wish—and forgot?

It's a dreadful tragedy, of course, to forget your name and not remember those who love you and those you love. But sometimes haven't you thought what fun it would be to forget everything and everybody and be someone else for a change, some one absolutely different, some one with a new name and a new disposition and a new job and new clothes and a new place to live and new joys, yes, even new troubles—they wouldn't be half so bad as the old ones.

Not for awhile anyhow.

I know a woman who went across the continent once all alone.

And she was tired of home and tired of the laundry bills and tired of the gas bill and tired of the oldest boy's trouble in school and tired of the youngest daughter's hatred of practice and tired of her husband's odd little way of saying, "ahem" every time he was going to ask a question and she hated the color of her own eyes and couldn't bear the way she had to comb her hair. Oh, she really was very tired indeed, and something called her to the East from San Francisco and on the train she told people that her name was Mrs. Hugh O'Malley and she lived south of Market street in San Francisco and had seven children and her husband was a butcher and her three oldest were married and one of the youngest was in Italy studying music and one was in China on a tea plantation and one lived in India, a missionary or something.

Let's Choose Today!

And she had the grandest time telling tales about herself you ever heard. She spoke with a little bit of a brogue, and when any discussion came up about anything, she didn't say what she thought herself but what she thought Mrs. O'Malley would have said. And her mind got such a rest that she looked different and felt different and was different.

And by the time she got to New York she was so tired of worrying about the one in India and fretting about the one in China and wondering whether it really was going to pay to keep Honora in Italy that she was tickled to death to drop them all out of the train window the day she started back home.

And her own house and her own servants and her own children and her own husband and her own friends all looked good to her.

Even her old own worries were welcome.

Yes, it would be nice to step out of yourself for a few weeks, wouldn't it? Who would you choose to be if you could do it?

A Maharajah, with a black pearl in his turban, a New York society woman with the newest sort of silhouette, a good-natured "hand" on a river steamer with nothing to do but laugh and sing and eat and sleep and carry a couple of hundred pounds up and down the gangplank?

Come, the world's open before you. Let's choose—just for to-day. Maybe it will save you from an attack of aphasia.

Make Your Eyes Glow with Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

LUCREZIA BORI

ALL women who would achieve true beauty must pay particular attention to the care of their eyes.

No woman can qualify for real loveliness without the strong, clear expression of attractive eyes, well cared for. The look of strength and brilliancy can only rest in eyes that bespeak intelligent care and attention. Eyes that are clear and not inflamed, eyes that are bright and not tired. Eyes that are, as everyone's can be, normal in their natural beauty instead of dull from lack of attention. Attend to your eyes—wash and exercise them—and they will be beautiful.

If you over-strain your eyes, if you abuse them by making them work in bad lights and forcing them to undue effort, you cannot expect them to yield the most satisfactory beauty results.

Aside from the condition of your eyes themselves, the appearance of your eyebrows and eyelashes has much to do with the beauty results your eyes achieve. The sooner you learn to lavish on them the proper care, the sooner your eyes will reflect the high expression of beauty that should be theirs.

In regard to straining your eyes, you may feel that the demands of your daily work are such that you cannot avoid eyestrain. No matter what the nature of your work, you should be able to lift the strain or to make it such a negligible quantity that it doesn't count.

Never, never read or write in poor light. You should place yourself in such a position in regard to the light that it streams over your left shoulder. This gives you plenty of light on your work and removes any shadow from before you.

The white of the eye should be a clear, bluish white. If you find that your eye sometimes takes on a bloodshot appearance from strain, loss of sleep or from some lack of proper care, you should immediately take steps to remedy this. If you cannot manage to use your eyes less, you can apply remedies that will help.

There are any number of good eyewashes on the market. You may consult your druggist and buy one that he recommends or you may have him mix one for you.

Here is an eye lotion that helps wonderfully to bring the beauty back to inflamed eyes:

Borax, 2 grams

Rosewater ointment, ½ ounce.

You apply this either with an eye cup or with a dropper. Perhaps the latter way is the least wasteful. You should bathe your eyes with this twice a day. Be sure that the lotion gets to every part of your eye. Open and shut your eyelid so the lower lid may derive the full benefit from the wash.

Another treatment which helps bring the clear, rested look back into your eyes is this:

Soak two small pieces of absorbent cotton, pieces big enough to cover your eyelid, in ice water. Close your eyes and lay the bits of cotton over your lids. Press them down gently into the corners so that they cover every part of your lid. You will find this more restful still if you lie flat upon your back on the bed. If you cannot do this, simply lean back in your chair for a few minutes. Remember that you have only one pair of eyes!

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

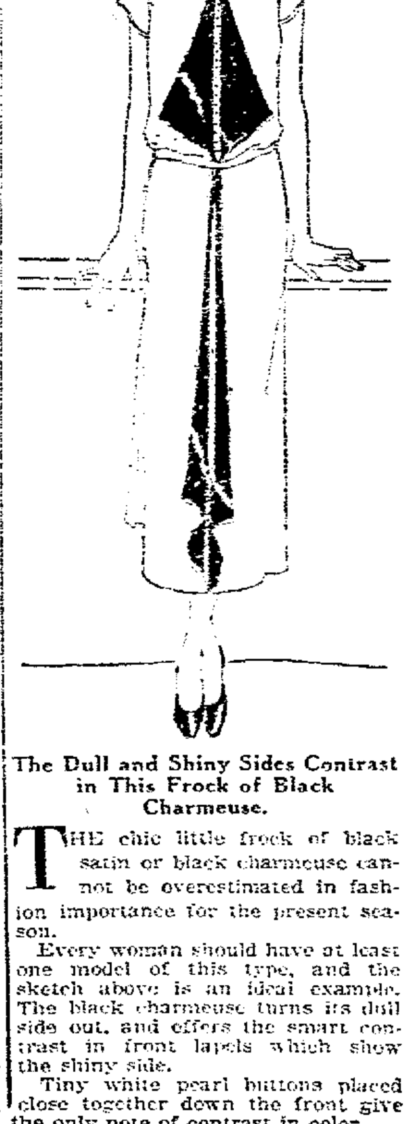

THURSDAY, APRIL 17.

An active if not an exciting day is read from the prevailing sidereal operations. With Mars holding an important place by lunar and mutual direction, things may be lively—a situation to which Saturn lends his support. However, there is need of caution in the handling of moneys and it may be disastrous to indulge in litigation, losses being indicated. With proper care, some substantial gain and advantage should be realized but litigation should be undertaken only with deliberation.

Those whose birthday it is will have a year in which substantial progress should be made if they avoid litigation, protect themselves against loss of money and sign all papers with sufficient deliberation. A child born on this day will be active, resourceful and adventurous but it should refrain from disputes and litigation.

Today's Fashion

By VERA WINSTON

The Dull and Shiny Sides Contrast in This Frock of Black Charmeuse.

THE chic little frock of black satin or black charmeuse cannot be overestimated in fashion importance for the present season.

Every woman should have at least one model of this type, and the sketch above is an ideal example. The black charmeuse turns its dull side out, and offers the smart contrast in front lapels which show the shiny side.
